Generation Healthcare REIT (ASX:GHC). Australia's only ASX listed healthcare real estate investment trust invests in a portfolio of high quality hospitals, medical centres, laboratories and other purpose built healthcare properties. With more than $209 million total assets under management, the fund is positioned to capture long term growth through the largely non-discretionary needs of health services coupled with Australia's fast ageing and growing population.

Australian Foundation Investment Company (ASX:AFI) is Australia's largest Listed Investment Company, and has generated impressive returns for more than 80 years. LICs have proven to be effective investments in uncertain times due to their high dividend yields and ability to smooth out returns over good and bad years.

Invion Limited (ASX:IVX) is a life sciences company with two drug assets in three FDA-regulated, phase II clinical programs. With operations in the US and Australia, the strategic focus of IVX is the development of treatments for major market opportunities in inflammatory diseases, including asthma and COPD ($34B) and lupus (to $4B).
